NEWSPAPER DIRECTORY

FOURTH EDITION 1905

A COMPLETE LIST OF THE NEWSPAPERS AND PERIODICALS PUBLISHED IN THE DOMINION OF CANADA AND NEW-FOUNDLAND, WITH FULL PARTICULARS

PUBLISHED BY

A. McKIM & CO.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING AGENCY MONTREAL—TORONTO

27,00/32

7, 6954 C2M3 1905

Entered according to Act of Parliament of Canada, in the year one thousand nine hundred and five, by A. McKim & Co., of Montreal and Toronto, at the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

PREFACE

The fourth edition of the Canadian Newspaper Directory may fairly claim to be a thoroughly complete and up to date hand-book of Canadian Journalism. The newspaper lists have been corrected with the utmost care, accuracy in circulation ratings achieved as nearly as possible, and the details concerning each paper carefully revised. Apart from its avowed purpose, the book will be found a valuable gazetteer of every city, town and village that can boast of a local paper. This gazetteer is compiled to show the business possibilities of any particular section of the country, and within its scope will be found very complete. It gives the population of each town, indicates county seats, gives the railroads touching each place. names the villages surrounding each newspaper town, shows the telephone, telegraph and postal facilities and mentions the principal industries and chief shipments. Its usefulness to advertisers and others who have dealings with newspapers is obvious. From no other source can they obtain the data given in this volume, which is the condensed result of many years' study and experience in the newspaper field.

The Canadian Newspaper Directory is useful in a sphere wider than the local advertising field. It is an advertisement in foreign countries for the Dominion of Canada. Copies of this edition will find their way into the hands of hundreds of prominent manufacturers in Great Britain and the United States, giving them a better idea of the progress and importance of Canada than they would otherwise have.

The condition and influence of the press of a country is an accurate indication of its advancement, and the fact that Canada possesses so many excellent papers, circulating so widely and extending over so great an area, will show outsiders how extensive is the field here and how great its possibilities.

A special feature of the Directory is a set of four newspaper maps, covering the whole Dominion. These maps have been corrected up to date, but instead of binding them in the book where they are easily torn, they are issued as a supplement and enclosed in a special envelope. They give in a very prominent way the names and correct location of every city, town and village in which one or more newspapers are published. This is a manifest advantage, as it enables the reader to pick out the principal town in any section of the country at a glance.

The publishers of the Directory gratefully acknowledge the generous support given by the most prominent dailies and weeklies throughout the country to this and former editions of the Directory, and thank them for the promptness with which all the information asked for has been supplied. It is gratifying to note the increasing number of publishers who keep careful records of their circulation and furnish detailed and sworn statements whenever required, as evinced by the black face and starred ratings in this edition. There is still, however, a very large number who neglect to keep records in their own offices and decline to give any information whatever, which, of course, renders it absolutely impossible for any directory to give correct figures regarding their circulations. In such cases the ratings are of necessity only approximate, as they are based upon what information can be gleaned from other sources.

Every care has been taken to avoid doing any publisher an injustice, and no pains will be spared to rectify as far as possible any error that may have occurred.

ORGANIZED ADVERTISING.

Publicity Problems Solved by the Organized System of the Advertising Agency.

The Advertising Agency of to-day helps to solve the problem of profitable publicity through organized advertising, the same as the problems of transportation are solved by the railroad system and the problems of communication by the telegraph, telephone and mail systems.

Many of the leading firms in almost every line of business owe their success largely to newspaper advertising. Many have started in a very small way—the advertising brought active demand for their goods—with this active demand capital came easily, larger premises were secured, modern equipment introduced, expanded systems of production and sale inaugurated, economy of administration enforced, and with larger profits more extensive advertising, until almost the limit of consumption has been reached.

Being associated with many of these successes in the capacity of advertising agents, A. McKim & Company are naturally interested in analyzing the relation of advertising and the advertising agency to modern business.

Looking broadly over the field of advertising, it is apparent that there is scarcely any limit to its profitable application.

Every manufacturer producing an article that the public needs requires to advertise in some form if he would make the most of his business.

No business is so solidly established, or enjoys so large a trade, as to be superior to the advantages of advertising.

A case in point—the largest corporation in Canada, outside of the railroads, the concern that is the leader in its line and has held the first place for over thirty years in the production of one of the great necessities of life, not only in Canada but throughout the British Empire, began a vigorous campaign of newspaper advertising during the past summer, and already this great manufacturing enterprise finds a vastly increased demand for its product and much more enthusiasm on the part of the dealers throughout the country, some of whom have even undertaken to co-operate by advertising the goods locally at their own expense.

In this age of keen competition and close margins, business success depends to a great extent upon an efficient system of selling the goods, and advertising is simply salesmanship in print.

Time was when a large capital was considered of primary importance, nowadays capital is easy to find if a firm has an article for which there is a profitable demand.

The logic of this is plain, banks like to loan money to concerns that have an active demand for their goods. The secretary of the American Bankers' Association said: "Advertising moves goods, creates live assets—Goods on the move are good security."

BRINGS THE BUYER AND SELLER TOGETHER.

A good article is of no more value than a poor one as a money maker until the public knows about it. Just here is where the work of the Advertising Agency begins. It places before its client the means of communication with every man, woman and child in the whole country who is able to read. It can lay out for him the most economical way of talking to the people of any particular district, class, trade or profession throughout the land, thereby enabling the producer of any saleable article to reach the purchasing public with economy of expenditure and in a way to secure the best possible results.

NEWSPAPER VALUES—AN UNKNOWN QUANTITY TO THE INEXPERIENCED.

There are very few commodities in which the basis of value is so continually shifting as in that of Newspaper Advertising.

In Canada there are over one thousand Daily and Weekly papers, outside of the Magazines and other monthly publications. Each publication, from the big city Daily down to the little village Weekly, has its own individual basis of value, and that, too, is subject to constant change. Even if the circulation of a paper remain the same from year to year, there are many other conditions that influence the price which the publisher will ask for his space. It is therefore evident at a glance that the producer who starts out unaided in an extensive campaign of newspaper advertising, would go floundering around in the dark, wasting valuable time and a great deal of money in gaining the knowledge which he could have had for the asking from the experienced agency, without it costing him a single dollar.

VIEW OF THE GENERAL OFFICE, MONTREAL

WHAT THE AGENCY MUST KNOW.

To have absolutely correct information as to the circulation of every newspaper would make a long draft upon all the knowledge of gods and men. Only the agency with the work of many years behind it, and the knowledge gained by the regular publication of such a work as The Canadian Newspaper Directory, can be expected to give to an advertiser anything like correct figures regarding circulations. But circulation is only one of the many things that go to make up the value of a newspaper as an advertising medium. The quality of the circulation is almost as important as the quantity. A paper circulating entirely among the working classes is of little value to the advertiser of an article which only the rich can afford to buy and vice versa.

A paper may be well or badly printed—contain a great deal of original matter and small proportion of advertising, or the reverse—it may be made up largely of "boiler-plate" of little interest to anybody, or nearly all of local news that is of live interest to everybody—it may comprise four outside pages of live matter and four inside pages where the black cure-all advts. are dumped—it may, in its editorial columns, advocate principles which are diametrically opposed to the interests of certain advertisers—and there are many other circumstances and conditions that must be taken into consideration in estimating the real value of a medium to any particular advertiser.

The Agency, besides knowing the papers, must know something of the localities in which they are published, the class of people they reach, and something of their habits and modes of living, the class of goods that meet their requirements. As an illustration—some districts are large consumers of tea—others drink coffee almost entirely. Throughout the Province of Quebec large quantities of tonic wines are used, while in parts of Ontario and the Maritime Provinces to advertise anything of a spiritous nature would be absolute waste of money. The up-to-date agency must be informed upon all these points, and be able to use the information intelligently in placing the business of its customers.

PRICES.

In the Advertising Agency business, as in all other lines of trade, the concern that has ample capital and controls the largest volume of business is in the best position to command the lowest prices. It goes without saying, therefore, that an Agency, such as A. McKim & Co., carrying well on to half a million of business yearly with the newspapers of Canada, can get for its clients everything in the way of price, position and other preferments that it is possible to secure. The publishers of the country recognize this Agency, with its splendid system and its admirable methods of paying accounts promptly, as business builders, and are anxious therefore to assist them in every reasonable way in their work of promoting and creating advertising.

THERE ARE AGENCIES AND AGENCIES.

As in other lines of business, and other professions, only by long experience, large practice, extensive operations, can one gain the information, create the system, build up the organization necessary to render the most efficient service. The so-called agent, with office in his hat, without information, experience or capital, who exists for the purpose of trying to get the legitimate agent's commission, has come to be considered a destroyer rather than a promoter of the best interests of advertiser and publisher, and is not now recognized by papers of any importance.

PLANNING ADVERTISING IS THE FIRST STEP.

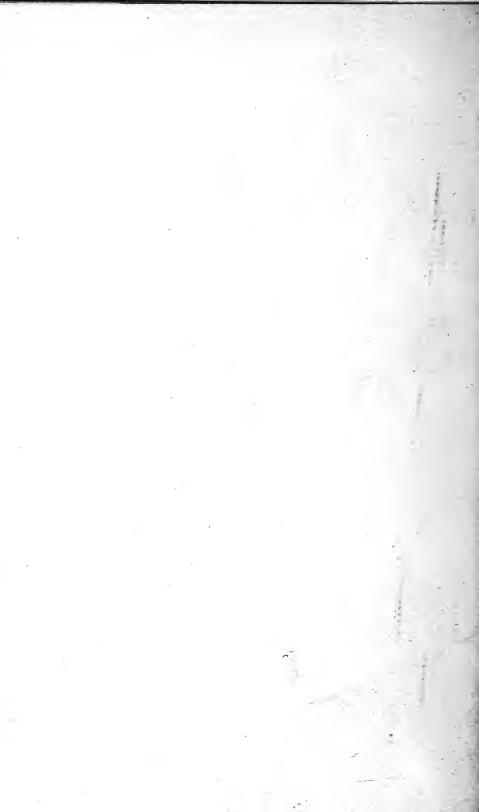

Each of the large general advertisers throughout the country who are clients of A. McKim & Co. has added valuable experience to the Agency's store of knowledge. Experience in advertising eliminates experimentati n. Experiments are often expensive, but they are reduced to the minimum by an Agency that has scored many successes and secured the knowledge that enables it to steer clear of the breakers which are likely to bring disastrous results.

This experience is particularly valuable in the first step of profitable advertising—the planning.

A CAMPAIGN WELL PLANNED IS HALF WON.

To plan well, the agent must know the field to be cultivated for the particular article to be advertised, the amount of money necessary to be expended. He must consider the people that are to be influenced, whether men or women, or both, whether rich or poor, or everybody, whether city or country, whether English or French, or both—and this is important in Canada—very important. The points that must be brought out to influence trade. The points that will stimulate the dealer as well as the consumer. What papers to use—whether Dailies or Weeklies, or both. What size of advts. will bring the best results for the money. What style of type will get the best display in the space. What wording. What illustrations, if any. What booklets, circulars, and follow-up letters should be used so that all may work in harmony and within the appropriation, and all be done at the right time.

He must suggest, devise, revise, estimate, consult until he has secured a plan that is all-embracing, a plan that will avoid the mistakes other advertisers have made, that will bring out the full selling force of the article advertised, that will be adapted to the field where it is put into operation and that will meet the approval of both the advertiser and the newspapers, for upon harmony of effort by the advertiser, the agency and the newspapers, depends a great part of advertising success.

It is safe to say that many a large advertiser would never have used the newspapers at all but for the agent, who planned his campaign so as to enable him to grow from small beginnings to large results.

PREPARING ADVERTISING.

Next to planning comes the preparing.

For this the Agency has to maintain a staff of advt. writers and illustrators, who must take up the points which have been decided upon in the planning and put them into advts. which are the right size, style, shape, tone and type. The Agency and its staff of artists, writers and experts, working in conjunction with the advertiser with his practical knowledge of the goods, turn out a series of advertisements that will tell the story in such a way as to attract and influence the public—creating for each different advertiser a style of advertising that will fittingly represent the goods advertised.

After copy and illustrations comes the problem of getting the best effect with type and cuts in the different classes of publications which must be used. What would come out well in a magazine might appear only as a black smudge in the ordinary daily paper. Usually an entirely different character of advt, is required for publications that use highly calendered paper. Again, a style of advt, which would be suitable for a medicine would be quite inappropriate for a brand of flour.

The advts. of each advertiser should have a distinctive appearance—an originality of typeseting and illustrating that will make his advertisements stand out from other advertisements and be seen and read wherever they are published.

Thus the Agency works with the engraver and the compositor to get the right result, and even goes so far as to have special fonts of type purchased to give his client something new.

Then there is the question of plates.

Most general advertising goes out in plate form, as in no other way can an advertiser have his advertisement appear exactly as wanted in each paper. The type is sent from the printer to an electrotyper and a copper plate electro made of each advertisement. This electrotype is kept as an original from which duplicates can be made at any time. From the original electrotype a sufficient number of duplicate stereo plates is made to furnish each paper on the list with a complete set of the advertisements to beused.

The plates put out by A. McKim & Co. are the finest that modern machinery and equipment can produce, and their requirement is so large as to take almost the entire output of one stereotype factory.

Now, as to the placing of advertising.

THE ADVERTISING AGENT AS A PURCHASER OF SPACE.

The agent having figured as counsel of advertising, editor of advertising, and distributor of advertising, is called upon to serve also in the capacity of purchasing agent. He is for his clients the expert buyer of advertising space.

He has all the advantages that accrue from long experience and from doing this work for a large number of clients—practically a purchasing combination by which each client secures many advantages. In the case of A. McKim & Co. this advantage is particularly notable, as the amount of advertising purchased in Canadian newspapers by this agency exceeds that of all other Canadian agencies combined.

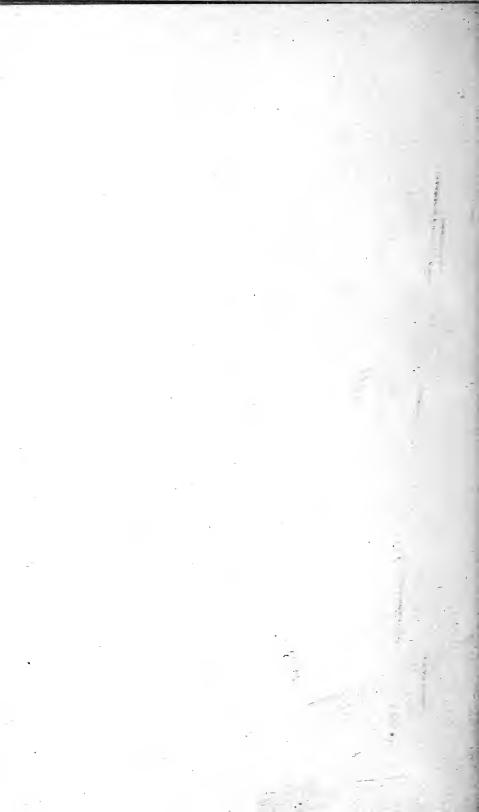

All dealings with A. McKim & Co. are free and above board. The exact amount paid to each paper is known to the client. The advertiser has access to every item regarding his expenditures, the same as he would have if the accounts were kept under his own roof. In effect the advertising agency might be a department of his business as far as transactions for his account are concerned. Likewise every publisher may know the exact amount paid to this agency by any advertiser for his particular paper. By this method a mutual confidence is at once established between the advertiser, the agency and the publisher.

GENERAL OFFICE-TORONTO BRANCH

MR. SOMERSET'S PRIVATE OFFICE-TORONTO BRANCH

Every issue of every paper in which a client's advertising appears is carefully checked to see that he gets what is contracted for—the right position, the right insertion and the right space—and these kept on file as vouchers which the client may examine at any time.

The accounting is done as it is in a bank—with a system that brings the most perfect and accurate results—a large staff being maintained so that the work can be subdivided into departments with responsible heads to supervise the details; in fact the manager of one of the largest agencies of the United States, after visiting the McKim Agency a few months ago, said that this agency has the most complete system of any agency on the continent, a fact mentioned to show that Canada in this particular is quite abreast with any other nation.

The McKim Agency may be considered conservative, in that it invariably recommends spending the smallest amount of money that will do the work effectually. The plans are carefully thought out, large advertisements being used when they will be most effective, but never for the sake of size. Advts. are illustrated or not, accordingly as they will bring the best results for the money. What is aimed at all through is not so much "smart" advertising, but the honest, frank, confidence-inspiring advts. that make the reader feel like giving the article a trial.

A. McKim & Co.'s Toronto Branch.

For many years a great many of the leading advertisers of Toronto and the West have been regular clients of this agency, but the rapid development of the advertising idea throughout Ontario a few years ago necessitated the establishment of offices in Toronto, with a local manager and full staff, in order that every requirement of Western advertisers might be promptly attended to. The wisdom of the enterprise has been amply proven by the increased volume of business from that territory. Many Ontario manufacturers who had never advertised before, have taken advantage of the greater facilities offered by A. McKim & Co. and are increasing their appropria-Now, with fully equipped offices in tions year by year. Canada's two chief cities, and with correspondents in New York, Boston and London, England, this agency is one of the strongest influences of the present day in the field of profitable publicity.

The following extracts from letters on A. McKim & Co's files, go to show their standing with the newspapers. They like intending advertisers to write to any of their clients or to any Canadian publisher regarding their methods of doing business.

I desire to add my warmest appreciation and thanks for the uniformly kind and meritorious treatment to the "Free Press" by you, and the very prompt and equitable settlements made by you in our dealings covering a period of over fifteen years, without a single omission.

OTTAWA, ONT., FREE PRESS.

We shall always be pleased to consider any offer you may have to make for advertising, as it is always pleasant to do business with you when the prices are right.

ST. JOHN, N.B., GLOBE.

Yours of recent date with enclosures received and contents noted. I have to congratulate you upon the size of the . . . . advts. Had we a few more agencies like your good selves we should soon have to still further increase the size of our paper.

VICTORIA, B.C., COLONIST.

I have concluded to take the . . . . advt. at the price you offer, not that I desire it or any other at that price, but it is in consideration of the amount of business we do with you and the promptness with which payments are made, making it a pleasure to do business with you. I would not do it for any one else.

NAPANEE, ONT., BEAVER.

It is a pleasure to do business with those who are so prompt and satisfactory in their remittances as you are.

Hoping for a continuance of your patronage.

TORONTO, ONT., WEEKLY SUN.

We are taking your advertising at lower rates than those of any other agency, because we are better satisfied with your system of paying.

CHATHAM, N.B., WORLD.

After some experience in dealing with unreliable concerns we have decided that it is better to take matter at a low rate from a good house than at a high rate from a poor house.

WOODSTOCK, N.B., DESPATCH.

I have never given this rate or its equivalent before, and would do so for no other firm.

PICTOU, N.S., COLONIAL STANDARD.

For your very prompt payments and really easy settlements I offer my very best thanks.

OSHAWA, ONT., REFORMER.

We like to do business with you because you pay all you agree to. The fault we find is that you don't agree to pay enough.

COATICOOK, QUE., OBSERVER.

Your favor received with cheque in full for account. Accept thanks for your prompt settlement. This is one of the pleasures of doing business with you.

SHERBROOKE, QUE., RECORD.

We accept the . . . . advt., notwithstanding the exceptionally low rate, because of our pleasant business relations with you.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., COLUMBIAN.

At present we could not give the position at any price, though speaking sincerely, we would like to take everything you have to offer, because yours is the one Canadian Agency that we can depend upon for prompt payment of bills.

TILLSONBURG, ONT., OBSERVER.

We are anxious to do business with you, because our business relationship has been so pleasant in the past, and you have been so prompt with your payments.

BEETON, ONT., WORLD.

The regularity of your cheques make your propositions enticing, though we lose money by them.

RICHMOND, QUE., GUARDIAN.

Your offer for . . . is low, but as we have no trouble in collecting from you we do not propose sticking for a few dollars.

OWEN SOUND, ONT., SUN.

We never expect to do business with a more satisfactory advertising agency than your one. We hope to be able to give more attention to advertising matter this year than during the past few months, and trust that we may still be favored by your company.

WINDSOR, N.S., TRIBUNE.

We would prefer all our foreign business going through your agency, which we are pleased to say we have found satisfactory in every respect.

NANAIMO, B.C., FREE PRESS.

NANAIMO, B.C., PREE PRESS.

This matter is quite satisfactory and we ask you to kindly accept thanks for your promptness. It is a pleasure to do business with people who conduct their affairs in so business like a way as does your firm. We are only sorry that more of your business does not come this way so that we could have a fatter statement from you each month. The early receipt and satisfactory condition of these statements are very gratifying.

OTTAWA, ONT., JOURNAL.

Aside from a consideration that we are not getting enough for some of our contracts, we have reason to be satisfied with our dealings with you, not only because you pay what you agree to every time, but also because we find your checking accurate.

GUELPH, ONT., MERCURY.

A. McKIM & CO. NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING AGENCY, MONTREAL AND TORONTO.

PROVINCE OF ONTARIO.

Ontario is the most populous and wealthy of all the provinces of Canada. It has a land area of 219,650 square miles and a water area of 2,350 square miles; with a population at the census of 1901 of 2,182,947. It has 38 counties besides seven districts as large as some European states, out of which future counties will be formed. The province has 15 incorporated cities, 112 incorporated towns and about 131 (organized) villages. Its facilities for railway and water communication combined are not surpassed by any division of the American continent. The River St. Lawrence and the great lakes, Ontario, Erie, Huron and Superior, touch it on its entire southern and western boundaries, while from the "Height of land," which forms the back bone of the province, many fine rivers flow down to those lakes on the south, or to James Bay or Hudsons Bay on the north. important county is unreached by a railway, and out of a total of 16,687 miles of railway in Canada 6,647 miles, or about 40 per cent. are in In the extent and variety of its agricultural, dairy and fruit products Ontario leads the Dominion, while its wealth of gold, nickel and other valuable minerals is proving to be greater than was ever anticipated by geologists ten years ago. The province in 1903 showed 639,581 head of horses, 2,674,261 head of cattle, 1,642,726 head of sheep, and 1,977,386 head of swine, while some items of the agricultural products in the same year were as follows: 21,893,470 bushels of wheat, 24,378,817 bushels of barley, 110,228,103 bushels of oats, 8,924,650 bushels of pease, 6,000,000 bushels of other grain, 16,676,447 bushels of potatoes, 113,697,358 bushels of turnips and other feeding roots, and 6,900,962 tons of hay and silage. The average yield per acre of crops in Ontario, though not so large as in the Northwest Provinces and Territories, is greater than in any state in the American Union, the comparison holding good in all kinds of grain in all states, except one kind of grain in one state—oats in Kansas. production of cheese in 1902 was 146,805,776 lbs., that of creamery butter 11,082,078 lbs., and of home made butter 55,932,353 lbs. In 1902 Ontario had 5,671 public schools, besides 391 Roman Catholic separate schools, and 6 Protestant separate schools, 120 kindergartens and 11 night schools. Of pupils, the public schools had 408,124, the R.C. separate schools 45,964, the Protestant separate schools 466, the kindergartens 11,300, the night The teachers in public schools numbered 8,497, and in schools 670. all other primary schools 1,164, making a total of 9,661 primary teachers. In higher education Ontario has a normal college and three normal schools for the training of teachers, over 40 model schools, an art and industrial school, two technical schools, 134 high schools and collegiate institutes, with 24,472 pupils and 593 teachers. It has also a training institute, at Gueiph, for teachers and others in manual training and domestic science and art. It has 140 free and 306 subscription libraries. In 1902 the province had 3,321 post offices, through which passed 105,600,000 letters, and 17,180,000 post cards, 2,332,000 registered letters, 5,172,000 free letters, and $10,565,274 in money orders. Ontario is represented in the Dominion parliament by 24 senators and 92 members of the House of Commons. Its local government is carried on by a single chamber having 98 members. Capital, Toronto.

PROVINCE OF QUEBEC.

The Province of Quebec, the cradle of civilization in Canada, has a history more abounding in romance and episode than that of any other division of the American continent. Its discovery dates from 1534, and its' regular colonization from the beginning of the 17th century. From this colony went forth the hardy French pioneers, who penetrated through the wilds surrounding the Great Lakes, into the plains and prairies of the unknown West and North-West, and down the valley of the Mississippi to the Gulf of Mexico, and whose names still survive in many a town, lake and river, of Western Canada and the United States. The scenery of Quebec, along the St. Lawrence and Saguenay to Lake St. John and the regions beyond is unsurpassed in grandeur, and is year by year attracting visitors from all parts of the continent and from Europe. The wealth of Quebec in minerals is proving to be very great, the asbestos mines, among others, being now acknowledged to be the richest in the world. Quebec is penetrated in every part by rivers and streams, and the amount of water power still unutilized is inconceivable to those who have not explored the province. The facilities thus afforded for mill operations point out the province as a great future seat of manufacturing, especially in paper and pulp making, these water powers being interspersed among vast tracts of spruce, poplar, hemlock and other pulp woods, unequalled in the world for their qualities for pulp and paper making. By an Order in Council passed in 1896 the northern boundaries have been extended to the shores of Hudson Bay, the land area of Quebec being now 344,050 sq. miles, and the water area 3,300 sq. miles. The population at the last census in 1901, was 1,648,898, and is now estimated at 1,650,000. It has 65 counties, five districts, eight cities, 101 towns, and over 1,500 villages. A dual system of education exists in the province, there being Roman Catholic school boards and Protestant school boards. The Roman Catholic boards have under their charge 4,455 elementary schools, 511 model schools, 149 academies, two normal schools, 16 classical colleges and two universities, these institutions having 295,284 pupils of all grades. Under the Protestant school boards, there are 884 elementary schools, 44 model schools, 29 academies, one normal school, three classical colleges and two universities, these schools, etc., having 36,932 pupils of all grades. Besides these, there are seven non-sectarian schools of arts and manufactures, five schools of agriculture and dairying and other miscellaneous institutions of learning. Quebec sends to the Dominion parliament 65 members, and is represented there by 24 senators, the same number as for Ontario. Its provincial legislature has two Houses, the Upper House, or legislative council, having 24 members, and the Legislative Assembly, 74 members. provincial capital is Quebec city. The province has 1,820 post offices, through which in 1902 there passed 46,200,000 letters, 954,000 free letters, 1,155,000 registered letters, 4,250,000 post cards, 655,471 money orders and 4,500,000 transient newspapers, circulars and books, exclusive of newspapers issued from publication offices.

For statistics and other information regarding the newspapers of the province, see other parts of this work.

Montreal first began to be settled by Europeans in 1542; and exactly one century later the spot destined to be the city was consecrated with due solemnities, commended to the "Queen of Angels," and called Ville-Marie, a name which it retained for a long period. 1760 it was taken by the English. Early in the last century vessels of more than three hundred tons could not ascend to Montreal, and its foreign trade was carried on by small brigs and barges. In 1809 the first steam vessel, "The Accommodation," built by the Hon. John Molson, made a trip to Quebec. She had berths for twenty passengers. Years of industry and intelligence, enterprise and labor have produced a mighty contrast. Ocean steamers of 4,000 to 10,000 tons and ships from 700 to 2,000, from all parts of the world, now lie alongside of the wharves in the harbor, which are not equalled in Canada in point of extent, accommodation, approach and cleanliness. Montreal was formerly the capital of Canada, but in April, 1849, a political mob burned the Parliament Buildings and the seat of government was in consequence removed to Quebec, subsequently to Toronto and finally to Ottawa. In July, 1852, a destructive fire laid waste a large part of the city, burning 1,108 houses and destroying property valued at $1,363,264. Montreal is noted for its charitable and religious institutions, some of which were founded nearly 250 years ago. The oldest church in the city is the Bonsecours (Roman Catholic), it was erected in 1658; was burnt in 1764, but rebuilt in 1771. The city is abundantly supplied with pure water, and is lighted by electricity and gas. The principal buildings are the City Hall, Court House, Post Office, Custom House, Board of Trade, Seminary of St. Sulpice, Convent of Notre Dame, General Hospital, Royal Victoria Hospital, Grey Nunnery, Montreal College, McGill University Buildings, Laval University, Presbyterian Methodist and Congregational Colleges, Young Men's Christian Association building, St. Mary's College, Montreal Diocesan College, Academy of Music, Royal Victoria College, His Majesty's Theatre, Theatre Français, Victoria Skating Rink, Deaf and Dumb Asylum, Mechanics' Hall, etc. It has thirteen markets, including Bonsecours, a magnificent building with a lofty dome, fronting on the River. It has eighty churches and five synagogues. Its parks and squares are numerous, the chief being Mount Royal Park, covering 430 acres, and affording from the "Look out" one of the finest urban views of the continent. Montreal is the head of ocean navigation on the St. Lawrence, and its shipping trade is the largest of any city in Canada, the annual exports amounting to about $30,000,000 and the imports about $45,000,000. It is the head port of eight steamship companies, one of which (the Allan line) is among the largest in the world. Over 6,000 vessels arrive annually during the season of navigation. Its granite docks extend seven or eight miles up and down the river. Vast improvements are now in progress and when completed the harbor will be one of the finest in North America. Montreal has about two-thirds of the banking capital of Canada, no less than eight of its chartered banks having their head offices here. The Victoria Bridge across the River St. Lawrence at Montreal, was the largest tubular bridge in the world, being 9,184 feet in length. It contains 24 spans of 242 feet each and one (the centre 60 feet above the river) of 330 feet, and it cost nearly $7,000,000. This bridge has now been replaced by a double track steel bridge laid on the old piers. The educational means of the city comprise the universities of McGill and Laval with faculties of law, arts, science, medicine, and veterinary science, and theological colleges connected with the Methodist, Congregational, Presbyterian, Church of England, and Roman Catholic churches; a high school, two normal schools, and a number of private and public schools and several classical and scientific academies, also a medical college affiliated to Victoria College, Toronto, and the medical faculty of the University of Bishop's College, Lennoxville. Surrounding towns and villages where no papers are published: Cote St. Paul, Cote St. Louis, St. Cunegonde, St. Henri, Maisonneuve, Lachine, St. Lambert's, Laprairie, Longue Pointe, Mascouche, L'Epiphanie, Vaudreuil, Valois and Pointe Claire.

QUEBEC, pop. 78,000, Co. Quebec, is situated on the left bank of the * River St. Lawrence at Point des Monts, 180 miles N.E. of Montreal, and 328 miles N.W. of Portland, Me., lat. (of N.E. bastion) 46° 49' 6", long. 71° 13' 45" W. Chief Industries: ship building, manufacture of iron castings, machinery, cutlery, nails, cartridges and shells, leather, paper, church ornaments, boots and shoes, rope, tobacco and cigars, steel, etc. Chief Shipments: timber is shipped by millions of feet to all parts of the world, potatoes, cabbages and turnips form a large portion of its exports, while all classes of merchandise is shipped to every civilized country. Levis immediately opposite is connected by a ferry and a great many of the business men and clerks of Quebec reside there. Quebec is the capital of the Province of Quebec, and is the third most populous city in Canada.

In the grandeur of its site and surroundings, in the strength of its fortifications, in the extent and romance of its history, and the hospitality and kindness of its citizens, Quebec stands supreme among the cities of America. The city has a remarkably picturesque situation between the two rivers at the north-eastern extremity of a narrow but elevated tableland, which for about eight miles forms the left bank of the River St. Lawrence. Cape Diamond, the extremity of the tableland, is 333 feet above the level of the river, to which it presents a nearly precipitous face; the descent to the St. Charles River is more gradual. The distance from one river to the other is little more than a mile. Opposite Cape Diamond the St. Lawrence is contracted to a breadth of 1,314 yards; but immediately below, at the confluence of the St. Charles, it spreads out into a broad and beautiful basin, more than 2,500 yards wide, forming a capacious and excellent harbor. The Spring tides rise and fall 18 feet. Quebec is divided into two parts called Upper and Lower Towns. The Upper Town occupies the highest part of the promontory, a small part of it is surrounded with walls, and otherwise fortified. The ancient citadel, which crowns the summit of Cape Diamond, covers, with its numerous works, an area of 40 acres, and from its position is the strongest natural fortress in America. Lower Town, which is the seat of commerce, is built around the base of Cape Diamond, where, in many places, the rock has been cut away to make room for the houses. The banks of both rivers are lined with warehouses and wharves, the latter jutting about 200 feet into the stream, and along them the water is sufficiently deep to admit vessels of the largest size. The city has several times suffered from disastrous fires, but the result has been the erection of more attractive buildings and a consequent improvement in the general appearance of the city. In the Upper Town are several squares and public walks commanding views unrivalled for their varied and picturesque appearance. In one stands a substantial monument, erected to the joint memory of Generals Wolfe and Montcalin, the English and French commanders who fell in the taking of Quebec in It is 65 feet high. A monument 40 feet high marks the spot where General Wolfe fell on the Plains of Abraham; while on St. Foy Road stands a monument presented by Prince Napoleon Bonaparte in 1855, commemorating a fierce struggle which took place here in 1760 between the British and French troops. Among the public buildings of Quebec may be mentioned the new Parliament Buildings; the Roman Catholic Cathedral, with a seating capacity of 4,000 persons, and covering with the university attached an area of eight acres; the English Cathedral, surmounted by a lofty spire, both occupying elevated positions in the Upper Town. There are twenty-three churches in Quebec and one synagogue. The educational institutions comprise three Roman Catholic Colleges, viz: Laval University, with faculties of arts, law and medicine; the Grand Seminary and the Minor Seminary; the Ursuline Convent, an extensive establishment founded in 1641; several nunneries; Morrin College, with seven professors; Laval, Normal and Model schools; Girls High school; the Quebec High school, and a number of private academies and public schools. There are in addition, a Canadian Institute, provided with a library and reading room; the Literary and Historical Society, the oldest chartered institution of its kind in Canada, having been founded in 1824, and possessing valuable "Records of the Realm" in eighty or ninety folios, and a large collection of historical manuscripts; but nearly the whole of its museum and a great part of its library were destroyed by fire, with the Parliament buildings, in 1854; the Entomological Society, St. Patrick's Literary Institute, Advocates' Library, Board of Trade, Merchants' Exchange and the Y.M.C.A. rooms. The principal benevolent institutions are the Marine Hospital, the Hotel Dieu, the (Jeffery Hale) General Hospital, and the Lunatic Asylum at Beauport. Surrounding towns and villages where no papers are published: New Liverpool, Beauport, Isle of Orleans, Sillery, St. Joseph, St. Romuald, St. Nicholas, Etchemin and Charlesbourg.

JUDICIOUS HINTS.

The way to win is to begin.

Common sense is uncommonly good advertising.

When the rest are straining to outshout each other—just try a little quiet explaining on your own account.

However important your ad may appear to you, remember it's only one in ten thousand to the cursory reader. Don't create resistance.

Let us not worry about being over-shadowed. If we, ourselves, are big enough, the other fellow's bigness will only make him companionable.

The world will be slow in making a "beaten path" to the door of the unknown one if his competitors are shrewd enough to open up the broad highway of advertising.

To convince, the true advertisement writer puts his whole soul into his copy. It may not read with a ring or abound with grammatical grace or rhetorical flourish, but it will shine with the real heartsome earnestness of enthusiasm and truth, and it will prevail over doubt and indifference.—Judicious Advertising.

PROVINCE OF NEW BRUNSWICK

New Brunswick, the largest of the three maritime provinces, has a land area of 27,911 square miles, and an internal water area of 74 square miles. The population at the census of 1901 was 331,120, and the estimated population at the present time is about 350,000. The province is endowed with a remarkable wealth of timber lands and an extent of rich farming land also far larger than is generally supposed. These lands will be opened up for cultivation as the forests are cleared, when New Brunswick will be recognized not only as a great agricultural and stock raising country, but as Nova Scotia is now, will be rich in fruit and garden products. The pulp industry is beginning to be developed, the province having a large area of fine pulp wood. The province is intersected in a remarkable way by beautiful rivers, nearly all of which are stocked with fish. Some of the salmon rivers of New Brunswick are the most celebrated in the world. The River St. John-noted among other New Brunswick rivers for its picturesque scenery—is 500 miles long, is navigable for large steamers to Fredericton, 90 miles, and for small steamers to Grand Falls, 230 miles. Other noble rivers of the province are the Miramichi, the Nipiseguit, the Richibucto and the St. Croix. Coal, gold, galena, manganese, antimony, coal oil and other mineral deposits exist in the province, together with a remarkable mineral called albertite-a jet-black, glossy substance-the true character of which was a matter of dispute amoug geologists, though it is now regarded as pure petroleum, and is of great commercial value. To give an idea of the extent of the lumber industry of the province, the mills of the St. John River alone produce over 160,000,000 ft. annually, not including laths, pickets, shingles, staves, etc., and the exports for 1903 amounted to over $6,000,000. The fisheries of the province are extensive, employing over 11,000 men and over 5,500 vessels and fishing boats. The total value of fish caught by these fishermen in 1901 was $4,193,264 the exports being over $1,000,000. The total tonnage of vessels engaged in the coasting trade of New Brunswick in 1903 was 1,301,667 tons. The canning of lobsters and sardines is now a special feature of this industry. New Brunswick has three cities, five towns and 750 villages and hamlets. It has three universities and a number of academies, normal and high schools. There were 1,778 public schools in the province in 1903, with 1,858 teachers and assistants and 65,927 pupils. The grammar schools have 37 teachers and 1,084 pupils, and the normal schools 242 pupils. In the Domlnion Parliament New Brunswick is represented by 10 senators and 13 members of the House of Commons. Its provincial legislature has now a single house, the Legislative Assembly, consisting of 46 members. Capital, Fredericton.

For information as to the newspapers of the province see other parts of this work, Advt.—The fact that Fredericton is on the line of three great railway systems—the Intercolonial, the Canadian Pacific and the new Transcontinental—and the port for several steamboat lines on the river St. John, accounts in a measure for the large circulation of the Gleaner, and is one of the reasons why it is the favorite medium for advertisers who wish to reach the central parts of the province. ## PROVINCE OF NOVA SCOTIA.

The Province of Nova Scotia-called in its early days Acadia, and embracing under that term the territory of the present Province of New Brunswick-is bounded on the north and west by the Gulf of St. Lawrence, Straits of Northumberland and Bay of Fundy, and on the east and south by the Atlantic Ocean. Only a narrow neck of land separates the waters of the Bay of Fundy from the Straits of Northumberland. Standing out in the Atlantic, and commanding, in a commercial sense, the Gulf of St. Lawrence, the province is destined to be the great maritime force of the American continent. Each and every county in the whole province reaches the sea, and possesses one or more harbours; and the position of the province in this respect is unique in the geography of the world. The land area of Nova Scotia is 20,550 square miles, the internal water area 50 square miles, and the population in 1901 was 459,574. It has 18 counties, three cities, 25 incorporated towns and about 850 villages. The future maritime pre-eminence of Nova Scotia is not only indicated by its position on the sea, and by the natural tendencies of the population, but by the immense beds of excellent coal and iron found side by side in the same counties, and eminently suited for ship building purposes. The output of Nova Scotia coal increased from 1,373,666 long tons in 1886 to over 5,000,000 in 1903, and valued at $10,000,000 at the mines. The output of 1903 was 900,000 tons more than that of 1902, and the demand for it in Quebec and other provinces is steadily increasing. The coal mines gives employment to 10,000 men. During 1903 the quantity of gold mined in the province amounted to 30,537 oz., worth $610,740. The product of the iron mines is also large; while the province is rich in gypsum, copper, and other minerals as yet but partially developed. The value of the fisheries averages $8,000,000, and the annual value of farm produce is estimated at $16,000,000. Among other products of the field, Nova Scotia has of late years become famous for her apples, which are in great demand in England for their exceptionally fine flavour. In the last few years the production of apples has ranged from 400,000 barrels to 600,000 barrels; the value of the exports to England in 1903 netted the growers $1,000,000, and new areas are each year being planted. The foreign imports for 1903 were $13,481,917, and the exports $17,016,554. In 1903 Nova Scotia had 2,417 schools with 100,129 pupils. The province has five universities, a provincial normal school, an academy for the deaf, dumb and blind—the first in any British colony—a school of horticulture, and 18 county academies besides high schools. Nova Scotia sends to the House of Commons 19 members, and to the Upper House 10 senators; its local legislature has 38 members in the Assembly and 21 in the Legislative Council. Capital, Halifax.

PERSISTENCE PAYS.

Many business men insert a small advertisement once or twice in a publication "as a trial," and then sit back and wait to see what comes of it. Quite naturally, nothing—or next to nothing—comes of it.

People who see your advertisement once or twice are just beginning to take note of what you say, and, perhaps, to resolve to give your goods a trial. The next time they look over the advertisements in their favorite paper, you aren't there.

Consequently, the man who advertises steadily and persistently wins their confidence and gets their trade. It is quite just and proper that he should. Nobody is going to take the trouble to hunt up a man who shyly bobs up to the surface now and then, and then bobs down again.

PROVINCE of PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND.

Though the smallest in area—having a land surface of only 2,000 square miles-Prince Edward Island is the most thickly settled and one of the most productive of the provinces of Canada. It had at the last census of 1901 51.5 persons to the square mile, while Nova Scotia, the next province in density of population, had at the same census only 21.8 per square mile. The population of the island at the census of 1901 was 103,258, the estimated population at the present time being about 104,000. scarcely a foot of land in Prince Edward Island not capable of cultivation and the soil is uniformly rich. This natural advantage, coupled with the endowment of a temperate climate and regular rainfalls, has made the province famous as an agricultural and stock raising country. The Island horses, cattle and sheep are eagerly sought after both by Canadian and United States buyers. But it is in dairying and in the meat business that Prince Edward Island is making the most gigantic strides. It is now sometimes referred to as "The Denmark of Canada." In 1903 there were 41 dairy stations in operation, manufacturing 2,729,556 lbs. of cheese and 556,452 lbs. of butter, the total value of both being $386,168. Among other agricultural products, the Island oats and potatoes are famous throughout America and the West Indies for their excellence, the foreign demand for these products being steadily on the increase. The hay crops are also celebrated, being produced from indigenous clover and grasses, and it is to the high quality of these crops that the superiority of the Island live stock is largely due. The fishing interests of the Island are also important, its position in the Gulf giving it great advantages for the future development of its marine resources. The value of the fish taken by Prince Edward Island fishermen in 1903 was $887,024, of which $581,000 was exported to foreign countries. The total tonnage of vessels engaged in the coasting trade of the Island in 1903 was 1,091,012. The principal fish caught are mackerel, herring, cod, hake, lobsters and oysters. The annual take of lobsters is about 2,422,144 pound cans, and of oysters about 20,000 barrels, the Prince Edward Island oysters—especially those of Malpeque Bay—being esteemed the finest in flavour of any on the Atlantic coast. The park like scenery of the Island, and its even temperature and charming summer weather, together with an abundance of the finest sea trout and good shooting in season, are year by year attracting tourists and health seekers to the province from all parts of the continent. Prince Edward Island in 1903 had 473 public schools, with 274 male teachers and 298 female teachers, and a total of 19,956 pupils. In the same year it had 419 post offices through which passed 2,240,000 letters, 160,000 post cards, 56,000 registered letters, 51,000 free letters, 300,000 transient newspapers, circulars, etc., 15,500 parcels, and 13,040 money orders, besides papers from offices of publication. Prince Edward Island is represented in the Dominion Parliament by four senators and four members of the House of Commons. Its local government is carried on by a single house, the Legislative Assembly, having 30 members. Capital, Charlottetown.

DON'T HURRY.

The very best way to insure poor cuts, poor copy, poor position, poor selection of papers and poor advertising generally, is to hurry. Plenty of time should be allowed the agent to carefully consider all necessary particulars in order to achieve the best results.

PROVINCE OF MANITOBA.

Manitoba, popularly known as the prairie province, has a land area of 64,327 square miles, and a water area of 9,405 square miles. celebrated for its rich agricultural land, and is especially noted as a grain raising province. Twenty-five years ago almost the only products of the province were furs, but its prairie lands, over which the buffalo roamed but a few years ago, are being rapidly settled by emigrants from the older provinces and from Europe. When Manitoba became a province of the Dominion in 1870, the total population was only 11,963, of whom 10,400 were half breeds and Indians. The census of 1901 showed a population of 255,211, and the present population is estimated at well over 400,000. In 1882 the province had 65 miles of railways, in 1904 this mileage has been increased to 2,606. The total acreage devoted to cereals in 1904, was 3,507,593, being an increase of about 10 p.c. over the year 1903. Although wheat farming is still the main industry, diversified agriculture is increasing year by year, and many farmers are going in for herds of Shorthorns, Herefords, Holsteins, Galloways and Ayrshires, and many fine Clyde horses are also being bred. Lake Winnipeg produces the finest whitefish known on the American continent, and many tons of this fish are shipped annually to Chicago, New York and other American cities. Large freezers have been erected at West Selkirk, a short distance from the mouth of the Red River where it empties into Lake Winnipeg, and here the fish is held for shipment. A large fleet of steam tugs are constantly employed in this trade. On Lake Manitoba there are large deposits of the very finest gypsum, and by next May the plant of the Manitoba Gypsum Company will be enlarged to turn out 30,000 barrels of cement annually. Two steamers are employed on the lake in this trade. Other mineral resources of the province that have not yet been developed are large deposits of salt and petroleum, which are known to exist near Lake Winnipegosis, and rich beds of iron ore, underlying the country around Lake Winnipeg. The number of public schools within the confines of the province is 1,488, and the number of teachers employed therein 1,869, while nearly 60,000 pupils are in attendance. Manitoba is represented in the Dominion House of Commons by ten members, and in the Senate by four senators. local government is carried on by a single Legislative Assembly, having forty members. Capital Winnipeg.

For information regarding the newspapers of the province see other parts of this work.

The Dominion electoral constituencies are given as counties, they taking the same place as the counties in the older provinces.

WINNIPEG, pop. 75,000, Co. Selkirk, the capital of the province, is situated at the confluence of the Assiniboian and Red Rivers, 40 miles S. of Lake Winnipeg, 1,425 miles west of Montreal and 1,481 miles east of Vancouver; Tel., T., Ex., M.O., Banks. Twelve main or branch lines of railroad centre in the city. Chief Industries:

A. McKim & Co., Advertising Agency, Montreal and Toronto.

flour, saw, planing, grist and oatmeal mills, foundries, machine shops, breweries, soap, biscuit, confectionery, boots and shoes, pickles and sauces, aerated waters, buckyards, cured meats, linseed oil, quarries, abattoirs, etc. Chief Shipments: grain, live stock and the products of its manufactories, the wholesale and jobbing centre of Manitoba and the North West Territories. Bank clearings 1903 $246,108,006, for the nine months ending September, 1904, they were $193,723,674. The city contains 58 churches, 19 public schools, with a registered attendance of 10,500, 6 colleges, a university, academies, ladies' schools, the Provincial Government buildings, court house, gaols, chief offices of the Dominion Government in the west, city hall, markets, 7 fire stations and police stations, water works, electric street and house lighting, gas, electric street railway, Industrial Exhibition building costing $160,000. Seven bridges, permanent and volunteer military force. The history of Winnipeg, with its wonderful growth and progress, reads like a chapter from some romance. Buildings erected in 1900 estimated cost $1,441,863; in 1901, $1,708,557; 1902, $2,408,125; 1903, $5,689,400; and 9 months of 1904, $7,833,750. Thirty-two years ago Winnipeg's population was less than 1,000, and the school attendance was only 35, it was but a post of the Hudson Bay Co., without churches, streets, or railroads, and but a few years previously the Indian chased bands of buffalo across the prairie where Winnipeg now stands. It is now the railroad and business centre of the Canadian Northwest. It is in the famous Red River Valley, and surrounded by good farming, timber, and mining districts with extensive lake fisheries. The streets of the city are generally wide, the principal avenues being 132 ft., and many are paved with asphalt, block and macadam. The sidewalks are concrete, tile and plank. The city is spreading rapidly over a wide territory, with its wide streets and its detached houses. Not less than 10,000 acres has been covered by its 75 miles of sewers, 70 miles of paved streets, 60 miles of which are boulevarded, 210 miles of sidewalks, and approximately 100 miles of water mains have been laid down since the city's incorporation about 25 years ago; 5,800 houses have sewer and 7,000 have water connections. In 1890 the rateable assessment of the city was $18,612,410, and in 1904 it is $48,220,450. These facts give some idea of the rapid progress being made. The grain business of the Canadian West centres in Winnipeg, and for the last three years the average amount of wheat exports has exceeded 50,000,000 bushels per year. This is evidence enough of the nature of the soil tributary to Winnipeg. In addition to agriculture a considerable fishing business is done in the large Northern lakes, and timber and mining enterprises abound on their shores. Winnipeg city owns and operates its own asphalt paving plant, its own quarry, public lighting, water works, and fire alarm plants.

There is no reason why the firm, with faith in their own merchandise, should not invest a reasonable sum in advertising. It is no longer a question of "does it pay to advertise," but "does it pay not to advertise." With indisputable successes to guide, and failures to guard, advertising is now reduced to a science. There are Oslers in advertising, just as there is an Osler in medicine. And they have attained their high position by a lifetime of study. The expert advertising man lays out a campaign of advertising with the years of facts to guide him, just as the eminent physician diagnoses the various cases of disease.

With an almost inappreciable exception, advertising failures rest with those who have endeavored to encompass the subject with their limited knowledge of the ways and means of properly appealing to the great buying public.

It has not been a great many years since advertising was looked upon as a mere question of "smartness." The average advertiser inserted some "bright, catchy" effusion and expected to become a millionnaire over night. No thought was given to the quantity and quality of the paper's circulation, location, population, law of supply and demand, and other vital statistics.

NORTH-WEST TERRITORIES.

The four organized territories of the Canadian North-West have an area of over 500,000 square miles, divided as follows: Assiniboia, land area 88,279 square miles, water area 600 square miles; Saskatchewan, land area 103,846 square miles, water area 3,772 square miles; Alberta, 101,521 square miles, water area 362 square miles; the Yukon, 196,327 square miles, water area 649 square miles. This is exclusive of the Mackenzie Basin, Ungava, Franklin and Keewatin, territories of large extent, but almost unexplored and undeveloped. It was only in 1886 that the little known region lying between Manitoba and B.C. was marked off into districts with a provisional government, but it is only the matter of a short time when these districts will become a province or provinces of the Dominion. The Act creating these districts gave the Dominion government the essential attributes of sovereignty, not only over these territories, but over the entire domain of British North America, so large a part of which is still waiting exploration and settlement. A census of Assiniboia, Alberta and Saskatchewan, taken in 1885, gave the total population of these districts as 48,362, of whom 20,170 were Indians, the district of Athabasca being almost wholly inhabited by Indians. The census of 1891 showed the population of the territories to be 98,967, while the census of 1901, gives the population at 158,940, and if the present influx of settlers is continued as the country is opened up an estimate that the population will be over 750,000 at the next census is not an exaggeration. Within the last few years these territories have become celebrated for their wonderful productiveness in grain and stock-raising, the winter climate having proved much milder than those accustomed to corresponding latitudes in the East would imagine, owing to the influence of the Chinook winds and other causes. The mineral wealth of the territories in coal, gold, natural asphaltum, petroleum, etc., has already been proved to be immense, and it only requires railway communication to open up these vast resources. In 1885 there were 59 organized school districts in the territories, but in 1902 they possessed 640 public schools and 15 separate schools, having 783 teachers in all. The total number of pupils was 27,441. The postal statistics of the territories are included in the official returns for Manitoba. The North-West Territories return two senators to the Dominion House and four members to the House of Commons. . For all the territories together, except the Yukon, there is a Legislative Assembly, consisting of 31 members, which with an Advisory Council forms the local government. The Yukon district, the great mineral wealth of which has become the sensation of the world, is administered by a special commissioner and staff, appointed by the Dominion Government. The capital of the North-West Territories is Regina, and of the Yukon district, Dawson City.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

British Columbia, the largest of all the provinces of the Canadian Confederation, has a land area of 370,191 sq. miles, and a water area of 2,439 sq. m., being more than the combined areas of France, Italy, Belgium and Holland. All the great natural features of the other provinces are here reproduced on a magnified scale, the great prairies of the North-West alone excepted. It has a greater variety of climate than all the other provinces, for while the upper slopes of the Rockies are as cold as Labrador, the southern coast is so warm that oranges have been ripened in the open air. Taken as an average the climate is mild and equable and resembles that of many parts of England. Its many splendid valleys and level plateaus are exceedingly fertile. Agriculture is growing rapidly with the spread of mining, both south and north. In 1901, more than 50 per cent of the land was under cultivation, the average size of farms being 252 acres. In fisheries, its vast salmon industries make it a close second to Nova Scotia, the value of British Columbia catch in 1901 being $7,942,771; this is a fair annual average, and in addition nearly $500,000 worth of sealskins are taken annually in the open season. From 9 to 10 million salmon are canned here each year. Its wonderful coast line of thousands of miles, embracing hundreds of harbors; its unrivalled fisheries; its stupendous forests, many trees of which measure from 8 to 10 feet in diameter; its incalculable wealth in those minerals which are the most valued by, and most necessary to, man, and its peculiar geographical position on the Pacific Coast, all mark out the province as one of the imperial realms of the future. The wealth of British Columbia in minerals can as yet scarcely be calculated, for tracts of country thousands of sq. miles in extent, are as yet untraversed by the prospector, and many regions known to be rich in minerals can not yet be reached by railways. Among the minerals mined or exported to a greater or less extent are gold, silver, coal, iron, copper, galena, mercury, cinnibar, platinum, antimony, bismuth, molybdenum, plumbago, salt and mica, while many other minerals are known to exist. The coal of the province ranges from common lignite to anthracite, and most of it is admirably suited for steam purposes. The steam shipping trade of the whole American coast of the Pacific is now looking to British Columbia for its coal supplies. Within the past year the vast coal beds of the Crow's Nest Pass have been tapped and have been proved to be excellent steam coal. For the 12 years preceding 1874, the exports of coal from British Columbia averaged 12,500 tons per year, but they have developed since then till in 1897 the exports were 679,751 tons, the total production of the same year being 988,796 tons. The coal bearing areas so far explored are 65,000 sq. m. in extent, the quantity underlying portions of this area being estimated at four and a half to nine million tons per sq. m. Gold is found in greater or less quantity all over the province, but the mines of the Kootenay and Cariboo districts are becoming prominent as quartz mining regions, while the Cassiar, Atlin Lake and other regions have developed rich placer mines. The gold produced in British Columbia since the development of quartz mining, has increased at such rapid rate that the amount, $2,724,657.00 produced in 1897, will probably be doubled In exports the province stood third in 1902 with a total of $18,385,335. The population of British Columbia in 1891 was 92,767, at the census of 1901 it was 178,657, and at the present time it is estimated at about 190,000. In 1902 there were 337 schools, with 570 teachers and 23,903 pupils. The annual expenditure for education has increased from $171,311 in 1891 to $438,086 in 1902. The province is represented in the Dominion Parliament by three senators, and six members of the House of Commons. The local government is carried on by a single chamber, the Legislative Assembly, having 33 members. Capital, Victoria.

For information regarding the newspapers of the province see other parts of this work.

The Object of Advertising

The object of all advertising is to put the advertiser into a position to transact business with a portion of the great buying public. No amount of attractiveness or favorable comment will save the ad from being an utter failure if it fails to bring—directly or indirectly—business.

An ad brings business to the advertiser by creating in the mind of the reader an impression favorable to the advertiser and his goods. Just how that favorable impression may best be created—just what means to employ—just what to avoid—how much to say and how much to leave unsaid—these are the things which constitute the art and science of advertising.

The advertiser who keeps his eyes open can find inspiration, ideas, suggestions, in the footprints of other advertisers; especially may he see pitfalls which he must avoid; but look he ever so diligently, among even the very elect of successful advertisers, he will never find a perfect pathway blazed for him. For the problems of advertising are as diverse as are the men who advertise or the businesses they attempt to promote. There is no ready-made-to-order system. The advertiser cannot buy, beg or borrow the system of another man. He must have a system to fit.

If he is wise, when his business needs a doctor he will go to a business physician skilled in diagnosis, who will write a prescription to meet the special requirements of the special case, and not recommend some patent nostrum, a business cure-all.

All advertising does not pay. All good advertising does. That's what good advertising is; advertising that brings results.

The truth is that nine-tenths of the failures in advertising are not advertising failures at all, but failures in the business methods behind the advertising—Agricultural Advertising.

YUKON TERRITORY.

Yukon Territory, Canada.—Population, 25,000. Industries, mining-The territory produces annually $20,000,000 in gold from its placer mines. Everything needed by the entire population must be imported. Wages and prices are high, and margins of profit correspondingly high. The better class of manufactured articles is mostly imported. Dawson is the capital of the territory, and has a population of 5,000. It is the supply centre of all Yukon and the lower river gold fields in Alaska. Has $1,000,000 worth of government buildings, churches and schools, well graded streets, a fire department that cost $100,000 per year to maintain, and is the most important city north of Vancouver. Quartz mining is fast coming to the front in Yukon. Last year the Government gave $15,000 in bonuses toquartz development, with the result that some good prospects will turn into good mines. Fifty thousand tons of goods are shipped into Yukon annually, all this amount being shipped in practically four months' time (the open season). Every ton of these goods could be sold by Canadian manufacturers had they the enterprise to advertise for and go after this. trade.

NEWFOUNDLAND.

Newfoundland, the oldest colony in the British Empire, embraces the Island of Newfoundland and a portion of the Labrador coast of the mainland, and is the only part of British North America not as yet included in the Dominion of Canada, though proposals for confederation have at various times been made, and although the question is a live one, many of the leading men of the island are opposed to a union with Canada. The area of the island is estimated at 40,200 sq. m., and the Labrador coast at 120,000 sq. m. The population at the census of 1891 was 202,040, including Labrador. From its settlement in 1614 to a very recent time the fisheries have formed practically the only industry of the inhabitants, but the building of railways, and the exploration of the interior, is leading to the discovery and development of hitherto unknown resources that will give a steadiness and balance heretofore lacking in the commerce of the island. In minerals the island has copper, coal, iron, gypsum, sulphur, graphite, lead, asbestos and gold. Iron and copper are the principal minerals. Copper was discovered at Felt Cone in 1856, but the mines were not operated until 1864. Since then several large deposits have been uncovered, and to-day Newfoundland stands sixth in the copper producing countries of the world. In 1895 brown hematite iron was discovered at Bell Island, Conception Bay. It is estimated that in the two deposits on the island there are 40,000,000 tons. The output of these mines and the shipments of iron pyrites are materially adding to the exports of the colony. Talc deposits have also been uncovered at Topsail, some 14 miles from St. John's, and shipments were made in 1904 to the United States. Besides the above, slate quarries were opened in 1904, and shipments sent The value of minerals exported in 1902 was $1,260,381, and since then the output has been much larger. Within a couple of years vast timber limits have been operated, modern saw mills constructed, and numerous shipments made to the United Kingdom and South America. The lumber trade bids fair to become extensive. The value of the exports of lumber in 1904 is placed at $375,000. The pulp industry is also assuming large proportions under the management of British capitalists. More attention is being paid to agriculture. The number of acres under cultivation has increased within a few years from about 100,000 acres to close on 200,000 acres. The annual value of agricultural products is over $750,000, and the value of land under cultivation, together with horses, sheep, etc., is nearly $3,000,000. A movement is on foot to utilize the vast plains in the interior raising sheep and cattle for export to the United Kingdom. Fish is the chief product of Newfoundland, and out of a total value of $8,547,369 exports in 1902, $7,287,369 were of fish and fish products. The total value of the fisheries in 1902 was $7,356,681. The herring fisheries are commanding the attention of the Government. Expert herring packers were brought from Scotland, with the result that shipments of herring were sent to St. Petersburg, Russia, and sold at good prices. The whale fisheries are also becoming more extensive. The value in 1904 was $365,953. The settlement of the French shore question will be the means of adding greatly to the development not alone in connection with the fisheries, but other resources of the treaty shore. Plans are now being made for settlements there. The lobster fisheries alone in 1904 were valued at $80,000. The imports of Newfoundland in 1903-4 were $9,460,000, and the exports $10,380,000. In 1895 there were 2,339 vessels on the shipping register of the colony, with a total tonnage of 108,180 tons, and of the whole population no less than 53,502 persons were engaged in fishing. For the year 1904 the Government's grant for educational purposes was $4,000 over the previous year. The total attendance at the colleges, academies and schools in 1896 was 34,557. There are 846 post offices in the colony, but statistics of this department are not available. The government is carried on by a Legislative Council, consisting of 15 members, and a Legislative Assembly of 36 members. Capital, St. John's.

For information regarding the newspapers of the province see other parts of this work.

BAY OF ISLANDS, pop. 2,000; western headquarters of the Newfoundland Ry. and terminus for the short steamship service between Newfoundland and Labrador; rendezvous for the English and French naval ships in Newfoundland waters. Chief Industries: herring fishing worth $150,000 annually, salmon, cod and lobster fisheries, copper mining; the shores are densely timbered and large saw mills are operated: a gigantic puip industry is to be inaugurated this year which will employ 2,000 operatives. There are ten surrounding towns, each with a population of from one to two thousand, where no newspapers are published. The scenery is magnificent. THE PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS, OTTAWA.

OTTAWA.

Of ancient By Town, as 'twas then, How few, alas! are living still Who saw the Sappers, Marching in splendid order past, Their bugles ringing on the blast, Their bayonets glittering in the sun, A man who knew not how to flinch, A British soldier every inch—Courteous alike to low and high—A gentleman was Colonel By.

True it is that to Colonel By and his Sappers, rather than to the early pioneers, does the city of Ottawa owe its inception. And it is to the exigencies of war, rather than the natural development of peace, that the initiation of the Rideau Canal is due, long before the bugle signaled or the bayonet glittered on the ramparts of old Ottawa, it was prophesied that the nascent city would one day be the national capital. It is obvious that the site of Ottawa is one that seems almost to have been specifically planned by nature for the capital. It is central, on a magnificent waterway, and is the key to the great commercial route to the Northwest.

In 1858, Queen Victoria formally named Ottawa as the seat of Government. The foundation stone of the Parliament buildings was laid September 1st, 1860, by His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales, now King Edward VII, who was then paying his memorable visit to the new world. This stone bears the following inscription "This Corner Stone, intended to receive the Legislature of Canada, was laid by Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, on the first of September MDCCCLX."

From this date, the city commenced that phenomenal development which is now the wonder and admiration of the British Empire. In the year 1867, the civic assessment amounted to over $5,000,000. In 1898, the assessment was $23,713,725. The population has grown with even more rapid strides. From 18,700 in 1867, it rose to 53,386 in 1898, and in 1904 it reached the high water mark of more than 75,000. The population of the section within three miles of Ottawa is considerably more than 100,000.

Ottawa is the third city in size in Canada, its population at the last census being only exceeded by Toronto and Montreal. The percentage of growth was larger than any other city, with the exception of Winnipeg.

Ottawa's present day fame is largely derived from the fact that it is the capital of the Dominion. This has helped largely to retain its political importance, increase its wealth and population. Here for the best part of every year, live the political leaders of Canada. The public men from every town and province, make Ottawa their temporary home. As is well known, the Governor-General, the personal representative of King Edward, has his official residence at Rideau Hall. The Parliament Buildings, the library of Parliament, the churches, hotels, theatres and private homes are among the handsomest in Canada.

Ottawa ranks equally high educationally. Ottawa University, the Normal School, the Collegiate Institute, as well as numerous public and private institutions, provide ample and thorough instruction in every branch of the arts and sciences.

It has been said that Ottawa has more millionaires within its boundaries than any other city in Canada. The lumber barons of the Dominion nearly all reside at the Capital, as do all the wealthy contractors. One citizen of Ottawa holds stock in a bank to the value of $1,300,000.

The streets are well paved and kept in excellent condition. The electric railway has always been famous for its good service, and is looked upon by experts as a model. By it, the suburbs are placed in easy communication.

Ottawa is extremely healthy. It is fortunate in possessing excellent sanitation. The water supply is obtained from the Ottawa river, 6,000 feet above the falls. The river for 100 miles above the city is a series of large, deep lakes, from which the water is decanted over rocky chutes, until it reaches the city in the condition of aerated lake water. The system of water works and sewerage excited the unbounded admiration of the American Public Health Association, which held the 26th Annual Convention there in 1898.

Ottawa has a commercial side which must not be overlooked. As shown by the custom receipts, in 1869 the duty collected amounted to $98,000. Last year this had grown to more than $700,000. Then there are millions of dollars' worth of goods passing the customs for the Government use, upon which no duty is paid. This is a sign of prosperity not to be overlooked. The available water power of Ottawa, if concentrated, would produce electrical energy for all the manufacturing, electric lighting and street railways of the cities of Detroit, Toronto, Rochester and Cincinnati combined. Besides this total average of over 1,000,000 horse power, there is available, within eight miles of the city, 200,000 horse power, enough in itself to make Ottawa the foremost manufacturing centre of Canada. This enormous cheap power is naturally attracting all kinds of manufacturing. Probably the lumber interests are the largest. Surrounding Ottawa, on the north and stretching away to the west and east, are thousands of miles of primitive forests, rich in hardwoods, spruce, birch, pine, etc. Many millions of feet of lumber are shipped from Ottawa to the United States, Great Britain and other foreign parts. Pulp mills, box factories, match factories, planing mills, foundries, machine shops utilize the cheap water power on every side.

Ottawa is of special value to the advertiser in that it contains all classes of people, the large manufacturing and lumbering concerns giving employment to a great number of mechanics at good wages. Then there are the employees of the civil service, who all command good salaries, and are able to purchase luxuries as well as necessities. In addition to this, there are the members of the Government, who spend a considerable portion of time each year in the Capital City, many of them being accompanied by their wives.

The advertiser, whatever his specialty, finds a ready market in the city of Ottawa, which can be reached at reasonable cost.

The surrounding districts of the Ottawa and Gatineau Valleys are filled with prosperous farms, and this field is also covered by the Ottawa papers, which are conducted in true metropolitan style, and the three English papers have a wide circulation in Eastern Ontario.

HULL, a city of 14,000 people, is a part of the city of Ottawa for all commercial purposes. The Ottawa newspapers circulate in this city, and the citizens do nearly all their shopping with the Ottawa merchants.

Canada's Greatest Newspaper

The pre-eminence of the Montreal Star among the daily newspapers of Canada is well established and It is aduniversally conceded. mitted by hundreds of thousands of readers who look to it for news. by thousands of advertisers from all the leading business centres of the continent, and even by the publishers of other Canadian newspapers. To attain that proud position was the work of many years, and the success of the present is the reward of the labors of the past. progress of the Star is largely an index of the progress and development of the Dominion of Canada, for as the country has prospered and enlarged so the Star has grown, ever keeping abreast of the times and always eager to meet the demands of the public for a bright, newsy, wholesome journal. success demonstrates that energy and enterprise, coupled with a broad public spirit and a keen interest in the welfare of the people, are the secrets of prosperity in the field of journalism, for these are the qualities that have endeared the Star not only to the people of Montreal, but to all the people of The wide field the Star Canada. reaches and the hundreds of thousands who daily read its columns are the best evidences perhaps of the hold it has upon the public. Today according to a newspaper census Montreal Star is to be found in more than ninety per cent. of the English homes of the City Montreal, while almost the entire suburban population are readers of it. The Weekly edition of the Montreal Star has a circulation in excess of 125,000 to paid in advance subscribers, and is distributed at every post office throughout the Dominion of Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific Coast. The facts connected with this enormous circulation are established beyond question, and in such a manuer as to inspire absolute confidence on the part of the public. Wholly disinterested accountants of highest repute have checked the circulation records of the Star, and have invariably found them to be as represented; and further, the Star always keeps these records open to the public, and invites inspection, especially the inspection of the advertising public who have a direct pecuniary interest in knowing that the circulation claimed is real and permanent. The Montreal Star believes in letting the advertiser know what he is getting for his money, and it invites an open audit and searching investigation into its circulation returns in the interest of the advertisers using its columns. In this way the "Association of American Advertisers" recently audited "The Star's" circulation, and gave a certificate awarding the Montreal Star an average bona fide paid circulation of 56,543 copies, and to the Weekly Star, (The Family Herald and Weekly Star), a average bona fide paid circulation of 145,822 copies per issue. The Montreal Star has by its straight forward, open, business-like policy with the public won a dignified position in Canadian Journalism, and it commands to-day the respect of the entire public. The Montreal Star, as is well known, occupies its own magnificent and thoroughly modern building, in which are located all the departments of its publishing business. Its executive is progressive and thoroughly up-to-date, and its mechanical plant is of the most improved kind. All its machinery is driven by electricity generated on the premises. The Star is one of the leading metropolitan newspapers of this continent, and it is not too much to say that it is one of the public institutions of Canada of which the country may well be proud.

Not only as a newspaper, but as an advertising medium, is the Montreal Star the greatest publication in Canada. It has a wide field, and it occupies every part of it. It is pre-eminently the newspaper of the Canadian people, and through no other medium can the advertiser reach so large a portion of the reading public of this country. The Montreal Star has a circulation greater than the combined circulation of all the other English newspapers published in Montreal. It not only holds the local field, but through its weekly edition reaches far out into the most distant parts of Canada. The circulation of the Weekly Star, (The Family Herald and Weekly Star), extends over the whole of this continent. There is scarcely a post office in the Dominion that it does not enter. Besides its wide circulation, the character of its readers must be taken into consideration when estimating its value as an advertising medium. In its readers are represented the very best classes of the rural population-prosperous farmers and well-to-do residents of the towns and villages of Canada. These are the classes to whom advertisers always desire to speak.

a handsomely illustrated, 16 page weekly, devoted to current comment on Politics, Religion, Literature, the Drama, Society, Music, Art, Sport—and the interests of its readers, is read and respected because it

TELLS THE TRUTH

entertainingly and courageously.

It is edited for the good and growth of the whole Canadian community, and is a class paper only to the extent of being high-priced and high-toned in the best sense of the word.

It is read by the best informed, best educated and most cosmopolitan people from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and is used as a "Letter from Home" by those who keep in communication with absent friends.

It is bought by those who have the price to buy what is worth buying, no matter what is the cost, and by enough of them to make it the best advertising medium in Canada for those who have good goods to sell.

Its rates are high enough to enable it to refuse swindling advertisements; and consequently the appearance of an "ad" in its columns is considered a guarantee that the advertiser will keep faith with his customers.

Its rates are low enough to enable every judicious advertiser to make money out of a prudent investment in its space.

"MORNING CHRONICLE," the "HALIFAX DAILY ECHO" and the "NOVA SCOTIAN and WEEK; LY CHRONICLE" @ @ @ @ @

CITY.—"The Morning Chronicle," published in Halifax, (48,000), is the most widely read daily morning newspaper published in the Eastern Provinces of Canada. Its authentic and concise Financial and Commercial News finds it a place in all business offices throughout the city each morning. The "Daily Echo" is the best family paper and the most popular of any evening newspaper published in Halifax, and there are but few homes in which it is not a daily visitor. They cover the city.

Average Circulation 7,100

TOWN.—Both the "Chronicle" and "Echo" have a large and growing circulation in all the towns of the Maritime Provinces of Canada and Newfoundland. They are delivered daily in all the towns and villages which dot the railroads and run through the rich fruit-growing country, the populous mining districts and the scattered fishing hamlets of these four provinces. They cover the towns.

Average Circulation 4,000

COUNTRYSIDE.—"The Nova Scotian and Weekly Chronicle" penetrates to even the most remote districts, is read and re-read, borrowed and loaned in every nook and corner-in these Provinces of a million and a half people. The new growth of this old journal for the past eighteen months has been phenomenal, and to-day it enjoys the largest circulation of any paper published east of Montreal.

Average circulation, July 1903 to June 1904, inclusive, 16,349.

NOTE.—Besides covering Nova Scotia so completely, these three papers have a good circulation in the other Maritime Provinces, New Brunswick, P. E. Island, Newfoundland.

Of the 22,168 newspaper publications in the Untited States, to only 111 has the great distinction of the Gold Marks been awarded by the American Newspaper Directory—the standard authority on the subject.

CANADA'S NATIONAL PAPER . . .

was founded in 1844. It celebrated its 60th birthday by the issue of a Special Number a short time ago. This issue offered contemporaries an opportunity to express their views of the GLOBE and the place it occupies in the world's journalism. A few extracts, from the many hundreds that appeared, follow:—

"After an experience of over 37 years in the paper and printing business, I feel I can safely say that your effort surpasses anything I have ever seen of like character."—Mr. Henry C. Bambridge, President, Stationers' Board of Trade of New York.

"We offer the warmest congratulations to our vigorous Canadian contemporary, which rightly claims to be one of the most successful of the world's newspapers,"—Lloyds' Weekly News.

"The history of the Globe is interwoven with the history of the Dominion .....as an impersonal force in public affairs."—London Advertiser.

"It affords convincing evidence of vitality."—The News, Toronto.

"The number furnished an unique history.....of the period covered by the Globe since its establishment to combat the family compact and battle for responsible Government."—Winnipeg Tribune,

"To-day it stands a 'topmost Gargarus' in newspaperdom all over the world,"—
New York Editor and Publisher.

".... what a power the Globe has been in the life of the Dominion."— Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

"..... highly creditable to the great Canadian Journal."—Hamilton Spectator.

HIS sketch shows the County of Oxford, rightly named "The Banner County" of Ontario, covered by the Daily & Weekly issues of the Sentinel - Review. It is the richest and most fertile County in the Province. The population exceeds 50,000. In this County there are 120 post offices reached by the Sentinel-Review. Woodstock is the geographical centre: the County seat; the Capital of the district and the distributing point for 100,000 people. The lines of the two great railway systems of Can. radiate from it in seven directions

TEN REASONS SHOULD USE THE SENTINEL-REVIEW

i—It is the most widely circulated newspaper in Ontario, population considered.

2—It is the only paper in Oxford Co. which publishes sworn detailed circulation statements.

3—No local Weekly in Canada has a larger circulation than that of the Weekly Sentinel-Review.

-4—The Daily Sentinei-Review has more than twice the combined circulation of the two other County Dailies.

5-Drivers carry the Sentinel-Review to the farmers N., S., E. & W. of Woodstock, within a radius of 15 miles every afternoon.

6-Special carriers deliver the Sentinel-Review every evening in 20 towns and villages.

7—We guarantee that four-fifths of the people of the City of Woodstock and Oxford Co. read the Sentinel-Review.

8—As the Sentinel-Review thoroughly covers the County by itself—it makes this the cheapest territory in the province to cover.

9—Circulation of the Daily Sentinel-Review at present is 3.625, Saturdays, 3.850; Weekly Sentinel-Review, 4.200.

10—The circulation or delivery service is not duplicated by any other newspaper.

The Daily Record has more paid subscribers, a larger circulation = and gives better results to advertisers than any other English paper in the Province. The reasons for its supremacy are given. It supplies more local matter than all the other papers in its territory. Established in 1897 on new and original lines, the wisdom of the publishers' policy of confining all their efforts to the Daily is shown by the growth of the Daily Record to the place of the greatest small city Daily in America. It has no weekly and no job plant. It reaches 183 towns and villages within a radius of 40 miles. It has over 125 correspondents who supply more local news to the Daily Record than all other papers publish in the same territory. Its subscription price is $1.50 per annum; it is published in its own building, and has the latest and best machinery, type setting machines and web presses. Compare the circulation of the Daily Record with that of the weeklies in these counties within 40 miles of Sherbrooke:

"Subscribers take the religious newspaper because it is a safe paper to bring home to the family. Such subscribers believe, and all advertisers know, that no worthy religious paper knowingly permits its readers to be defrauded by its advertisers. Anybody having honest wares to sell to honest customers will find a ready and good market through the columns of the religious press."—Profitable Advertising, Boston.

[COPY]

St. John, N.B., August 17th, 1904

To the Editor of

THE DAILY TELEGRAPH,

Dear Sir :-

I picked up a copy of your paper on a morning train, and was greatly impressed with the form and makeup of the same, it being quite up to the standard of a first-class newspaper, and comparing favorably with those of much larger cities.

I am a commercial traveller, making all the large cities of the United States and Canada, and am always glad to see a newspaper, the front page of which is free from advertisements and full of current news. Judging from what I have learned of your publication, I have no doubt it will continue to improve and please the public as it has pleased me.

Wishing you every success,

I am, yours truly,

H. W. BOWERS,

of H. W. & J. P. BOWERS, BUFFALO, N.Y.

Do not allow the Newspapers to set your Advertisements

The ordinary newspaper compositor has neither the time nor the skill required to set attractive advts., nor has the country office proper equipment in the shape of new borders and striking type faces.

IT PAYS to have setting done by TRAINED ADVT. COMPOSITORS—then to have the plates made and sent to each paper on the list.

Our Stereo plate, with patent base, enables advertisers to use a series of advt., at a small cost.

ALL WE REQUIRE IS AN ORIGINAL ELECTRO OF EACH ADVT. We make the duplicate plates, pack and ship to individual addresses as instructed.

The largest Advertisers use our plates and find them satisfactory.
